

About ACCESS Europe

ACCESS Europe is a provider of software solutions for connected TVs, set-top boxes in the connected home, connected car, cloud solutions, smartphones, tablets, digital publishing and networking markets. Headquartered in Oberhausen (Germany), the company is committed to becoming the market leader in DLNA/home networking solutions, HTML5/video graphics and user interface engine solutions and OTT (over-the-top) platforms.

ACCESS launched the first mobile web browser in the 1980s and now provides software solutions to over a billion connected and mobile devices. The company facilitates media consumption outside of the home and in the connected car, enabling OEMs and Tier 1s to provide a seamless, secure and immersive media experience inside the car. ACCESS solutions also allow OEMs to automatically aggregate and analyse the considerable amount of consumer data that comes from the connected car, helping them to offer targeted services and to better understand driver behaviour.
